

The Prophet Muhammad and the Revelation of the Qur'an

Islam is a religion which teaches that God is powerful and that people can call on God when they are in need. God is known as Allah. People who follow Islam are Muslims. Muslims believe it is the word of God and that it teaches people about right and wrong. The Qur'an is written in Arabic. It is the holy writings of Islam. Muslims believe it is the word of God and teaches people about right and wrong.

Muhammad was born in Mecca in Saudi Arabia. He worked as a merchant and became known for his honesty.

Muhammad would often meditate on Mount Hira. One day, he was meditating in a cave when the Angel Gabriel appeared and spoke to him. Muhammad began to say words which he believed came straight from God. This was his first revelation from God.

Over the next 22 years, Muhammad had more revelations from God. These revelations were written down and became the Qur'an. From that time, Muhammad was known as Prophet Muhammad and he preached about the revelations for the rest of his life.

Prophet Muhammad died in 632 in Medina. He is buried there.
